Birth of the Flowers.

BY O. S. CAR.

'Twas eve as I wandered adown by the glen,
Thro' forest and thickets of tall growing pine;
Communing with nature my steps I would bend,
And hail the glad notes of joyous spring time.

The birds in the trees and bright leafy bowers
Their sweetest of notes would warble away.
And thus sitting I watch the sweet little flowers
Bloom in their fragrance in the light of the day.

The trees of the forest, the tall mighty pine,
Seem jubilant with glee as their heads they would bend;
The soft gentle zephyr their tower would climb,
And hum a glad song as their way they thus wend.

The seeming glad earth wove a bright verdant carpet;
To add to the sight and the exuberant glee,
The bright fairy flowers seem dancing upon it,
In merriment splendor, so wild and so free.

The brook by the side reflects in its water,
The scene of the mirth and jubilant throng;
It now stays its course and for once it doth falter,
To join in the anthem and help in the song.

The whole of the forrest seem vocal with praise,
The river rolls on with its bright silvery sheen
Each thing of the forest its voices raise
And midst grand floral beauty they enter the scene.

Then the grand mighty shout to heaven went upward,
And its praise still rings thro' thick leafy bowers;
The song on the air still soars its way onward,
And tells to the world; tis the "Flowers."

Selected Story.

Young Vestol the Quaker.

AN INCIDENT OF THE WAR.

During the stay of Bragg's army in Middle Tennessee, Tilghan R. Vestol, a young Quaker of Maury county, in that State, presented an extraordinary example of devotion to his peculiar faith. He was conscripted and assigned to duty in the Fourth Tennessee Infantry, commanded by Colonel Mc Murray, but resolutely declined, in spite of persuasions and threats, to perform military duty of any kind. War, according to his creed, was homicide, and a violation of God's law, to which he professed his first and highest obedience. The humane officers were lenient to him, and, seeing that his behavior was the result of neither cowardice nor obstinacy, but of a religious principle, sent him away. But a second conscription party enrolled him. He promised to report at headquarters at the end of two weeks, and kept his word manfully. Strange to say, he was assigned to his old regiment. Colonel McMurray his old commander—if such a man could be said to have a commander—tried to reason with young Vestol from the Bible, but Vestol was so ready with text and argument that the Colonel was glad to draw his chaplain into the discussion.

Chaplain—I would not give a cent for a religion that is opposed to my country.

Vestol—I would not give a cent for a country that is opposed to my religion.

The chaplain was dumb.

Vestol refused to police the camp or do the least thing that could be construed into Military duty. Colonel McMurray, unable so do anything with Vestol, sent him to headquarters. Here he was reasoned with, and every effort made to induce him to go and perform the duties of a soldier, but he was firm and inflexible, He was told that if he persisted in his course he would be abbjected to severe punishment, and finally would be shot for disobedience of orders. He replied that they had the power to kill him, but neither the Federal nor Confederate army possessed the power to force him to prove false to his religion.

Officer—Pay five hundred dollars for a substitute and be relieved of your troubles.

Vestol—Suppose I pay the Confederate Government five hundred dollars, that will enable them to employ some one else to fight, and it will be equivolent to do what I think wrong myself. I can't do that.

Officer—Suppose I get you the position of nurse in the hospital to care for the sick, wouldn't you be willing to do that?

Vestol—I regard it my duty to do all I can for the sick and afflicted of either army, if I were to take the position of nurse in a hospital I would thereby occupy the place of another man who would go out and fight.

Vestol was an ingenious lad and knew something of pottery.

Officer—Suppose I detail you to work in the pottery in Georgia?

Vestol—If it's a private establishment I will go, but if it is a government establishment and run in the interest of the war I can't go.

Everything that could be construed, directly or indirectly, into military duty he refused emphatically to engage in.

Officer—Have you no preference as to which side shall be successful?

Vestol—I would prefer to see the South victorious, as I live in the South and among Southern people.

Bystander—Vestol, did you ever feel an emotion about anything—did you ever cry?

Vestol—Yes; when I left home to come here my mother cried when she bid me good bye, and I cried then.

Bystander—If your mother was here she would tell you to take your gun and do your duty as a soldier.

Vestol—The last thing my mother said to me was to be true to my religion, and I mean to do it.

The case was growing decidedly interesting. Hon. Henry S. Foote, then a member of the Confederate Congress, who loved to argue better than to eat, and had reasons plenty as blackberries always at the end of his tongue, was sent for.

Foote—Young man, you are all wrong about this matter, even from a scriptural standpoint. When Crist was on earth he directed his disciples to pay tribute to Caesar. The money thus paid went into the Roman treasury, and was used in carrying on the wars of the Roman people.

Vestol—No, thou art mistaken about that; the Temple of Janus was closed at that time, and there was no war going on.

Foote—By G—d, I believe he knows more about it than I do. I don't know whether the Temple of Janus was closed then or not.

He was assigned to another regiment and was bayonetted repeatedly for continued disobedience, until the soldiers positively refused to punish him.

He was under arrest all the while. Frequently on retreat his guard would lose sight of him, but in a day or two Vestol would march up alone into camp.

He was sent to Castle Thunder at Richmond, but was finally permitted to go to school in North Carolina.—At the close of the war he went to Rhode Island to continue his studies. Some two years ago the young Quaker whose heroic belief was equal to anything recorded in the annals of the Huguenots, Waldenses or Scottish Covenanters, invented a method of taking off and putting on waggon bodies for which he obtained a patent and at last accounts was living at his old home in Maury county.

A Story of the Tide.

On the coast of Normandy, near Granville, the rise and fall of the tides are very great, being about forty-four feet at spring tides. It comes in very rapidly and in particular places may be seen making up in a great wave two or three feet high. In a book on Normandy the following adventure is narrated of two English gentlemen:

They had been out on the sands watching the manner in which sand eels were caught, and examining the structure of the rocks, which were like sponges, when of a sudden one of them, named Cross shouted, "I forgot the tide and here it comes!"

His companion whose name was Hope turned toward the sea and saw a stream of water running at a rapid rate, and replied quickly, "I suppose we had better be off."

"If we can," replied Cross, "by crossing the rocks we may yet be in time."

They began to scramble up the rocks, and walked as fast as they could toward the nearest shore; but it was some time before they reached the highest point. On gaining it they looked round, and saw that the sand was not yet covered, though lines of blue water here and there showed how fast it was rising. They hastened on but had not gone far when they found that the sand was in narrow strips, with sheets of water between; but seeing a girl before them who was familiar with the beach, they cried; "We shall do yet!" and ran forward.

The girl, however, instead of going toward the shore, was running to meet them, and almost out of breath cried, "the wave! the wave! it is coming. Turn, turn!—run, or we are lost."

They did turn, and saw out at sea a large wave rooling toward the shore. Out of breath as they were, they increased their steps toward the rocks they had just left. The little girl passed them and led the way. The two friends strained every nerve to keep pace with her, for as they neared the rocks the wave still rolled toward them, the sand becaming gradually covered. Their last few steps were knee deep in water.

"Quick, quick!" said the girl; "there is the passage to cross, and if the second wave comes we shall be too late."

She ran on for a hundred yards till she came to a crack in the rock six or seven feet wide, along which the water was running like a mill sluice.

"We are lost!" said the girl, "I cannot cross; it will carry me away."

"Is it deep?" said Cross.

"Not very," she said; "but it is too strong."

Cross lifted the girl in his arms, plunged into the stream, and, though the water was up to his waist, he was soon across. His companion followed, and all three now stood on the rock.

"Come on, come on," cried the girl; "we are nearly there!" and she led the way to the highest point of rocks's and on reaching it cried, "We are safe now!"

All were thoughtful for a moment, as they saw the danger which God had delivered them from; looking round, the sand was one sheet of water.

"We are quite safe here," said the girl; "but we shall have to stay three or four hours before we can go to the shore."

"What made you forget the tide?" said Cross; "you must know the tide well."

"I did not forget it," she replied; "but I feared, as you were strangers, you would be drowned, and I ran back to tell you what to do."

"And did you risk your life to save ours?" saide Hope, tears starting to his eyes.

"I thought, at any rate, I should get here," she replied; "but I was very nearly too late."

Hope took the little girl in his arms and kissed her, and said, "We owe our lives, to you brave little maid?"

Meanwhile, the water was rising rapidly, till it almost touched their feet.

"There is no fear," said the girl; "the points of the rocks are always dry."

"Cold comfort," said Hope, looking at them; "but what shall we do for our young friend?" he said to Mr. Cross.

"If we put all the money in our pockets into a handkerchief and tie it round her neck, it will warm her, I warrant, for she looks cold enough."

One of them had twenty, and the other seventeen francs, and binding these in a knot Mr. Hope passed it round her neck. On receiving it she blushed with delight, kissed both their hands and cried, "How jealous my sister Angella will be, and how happy my mother!"

Just then a wave rolled past, and the water began to run along the little platform they were settiug upon; they rose and mounted on the rocky points, and had scarcely reached them when the water was a foot deep where they had just been seated. Another wave came—the water was six inches of their feet.

"It is terrible high tide," said the girl, "but if we hang together we shall not be washed away."

On looking to the shore they saw a great many people clustering together on the nearest point; a faint sound of cheers was heard, and they could see hats and handkerchiefs waved to them.

"The tide has turned," said the girl, "and they are shouting to cheer us."

She was right; in five minutes the place was dry.

They had some hours to wait before they could venture on the sand, it was quite dark before they reached the beach; but at length, guided by the lights on shore, they gained their own home in safety, not unmindful of Him who says to the proud waves, "Hitherto shalt thou come and no farther, and here shall thy proud waves be stayed." The friends handsomely rewarded the little fisher girl sor her bravery.

Cotton still continues to come in enormous quantities, notwithstanding the low prices.—Norfolk Landmark.

A Few Words on Marriage.

BY OLIVE HENRI.

My dear girl, with eyes so full of a glad, sunny light,—with the happy smile on your fair, youthful face—I want you to listen to me for one moment, I have something to say to you. So recall your thoughths from the land of day dreams, and lay aside your somming, and tucking, and patchwork, and give me your attention. You can afford to cease your stitching for a short time, if it is so near to the day of your wedding, when what I have to say to you is about that event in your life so full of importance that event upon which the future of two beings depends.

Of course you love the man with whom you are so soon to stand before the altar—I will not question that,—but is it a full, deep, reasoning love? Is the love that is given in return, a love that has its well-spring in a true and thorough appreciation of yourself? Happy may be all devotion now; he may seem to see in you little less than that which is angelic. But you know that you are not an angel, only an ordinary young lady, and sooner or later he will discover that you have lost your wings—that, in fact, you never had any; and you—you have invested him with every chivalrous attribute, and your fond fancy has woven charms and thrown them about his mind and person that belong no more to him than wings do to you. And what are you to do when all these romantic hallucinations melt away in the realities which a few months or years of married life bring? —when you have learned to know each other only as you can, after you have each become a part of the other?

Doubtless you each have an honest desire to make the other happy, and to be happy yourselves; but thousands before you have had the same intentions, and have failed in their endeavors,—so there are chances that you, too, may miss your happiness. I do not want to fill your mind with forebodings, to give the future a tinge of gloom, to make you distrust yourself; but I do want to question you, that you may know yourself whether or not you have thought earnestly of the step you are about to take,—if you understand one-half of the weight of responsibility you are about to assume, and have any confidence in your own strength to meet and perform well and efficiently the duties you will find awaiting you in the path of the years which lie before you. Unless your affection for the man you are about to marry transcends every other affection—unless deep down in your heart you feel that his is the hand of all others in which you are to place your own, to rest there evermore,—you are committing an act for which, some time, you will weep. Unless you feel that in his being are elements which call forth your soul's sweetest music, that in his nature are chords to which respond all that is harmonious and best in years, do not unite your life with his. If you do, feeling that between you there is nothing common, nothing in sympathy, can you reasonably expect to be happy?

Harry may be wholly unlike you, and possess traits of character which would not make you happy as his companion, and yet some other woman might find her joy therein. And so it may be with you. Have you never been with people who seemed to call out every discordant element in your nature? and with others at whose touch all that is lovely and harmonious awake? Unless you feel that you can sympathize with the man whose wife you are to become, that you can help him to a development of all that is best and noblest in him, and that your own powers will brighten and expand under his touch; you are falling far short of securing your highest good and happiness—falling far short of making the matrimonial state what God designed it to be.

Oh, my dear girl, I want you to find much of sunshine and brightness in the years that lie before you; but unless you fully appreciate the man with whom your future years are to be spent, and he fully appreciate and understands you, you will find many rough and rugged places, and gloomy clouds where sunshine might have been. I have seen men and women who have lived together for a decade of years, longer perhaps, who have not as just an appreciation of each other as the person may have who has spent one day in their society. It is a sad thing, yet nevertheless it is true. They married, perhaps, without reason or judgement, and so have missed their happiness.

They may love each other well, as well as it is possible for persons to love whose mental organizations are wholly unlike, but that love was not by any means sufficient to secure life from sorrow and grief arising from association with each other. I think I know a young girl's heart. It is so easy to forget caution—so easy to let love overmaster prudence and judgement—so easy to omit to look beneath the surface when the hearth is held in bondage—when youth and joy and gladness are smiling upon you. Would that one half of the romance and poetry that lend their charm to courtship were carried beyond the altar!

Perhaps Harry will come to-night, and while seated by his side you will think it the most impossible thing in the whole world for his eyes ever to look into your own a less worshiping tenderness, or his voice ever to greet you with less love-thrilled accents, or your own heart to throb with less joy at the content you feel in his presence; and Heaven grant that you be not deceived. But do not forget what I have said to you. Be sure that you begin your married life with a clear conception of what it is to be, and that no mistake or error stands at the threshold of what may be your earthly paradise, to bring you sorrow or the over-burdening consciousness that you have missed life's dearest sweets by the recklessness of your own hand.

Irrepressible is the American boy! Sixteen years ago a North Carolina lad received a sound flogging, and the presumption is that he deserved it. He was then sent out to hoe corn, but he didn't hoe much, for he disappeared from those regions altogether.

NOTES OF THE FAIR.

We but repeat what is on everybody's ...when we say that the Fair, so far as ...exhibition is concerned, was a complete success. Early on Thursday, notwithstanding the lowering clouds, the people began to arrive, and up to four o'clock the entering of articles continued. Both the number of articles and the crowd of visitors were much larger than was expected, and at the close of the day all went home feeling satisfied, nay proud, of this the first effort at a Fair, and with the impression that on Friday we would have the largest assemblage of people ever convened in Eastern Carolina. But during the night the flood gates of heaven were let open and it began to rain, and it kept on raining all day on Friday, sometimes reminding one of the story of the deluge, it came in such torrents. This came as a damper of course, and the river, as Gen. RANSOM humorously remarked, "never looked better." To go on with the Fair that day was impossible; to postpone it till Saturday did not appear advisable, as the grounds would be in bad condition, the Fair Grounds too full of water for the comfort of visitors and especially the ladies, and the track unfit for use. There appeared but one alternative, and that was to close. It was with great reluctance that the Managers made the decision as they had perfected the arrangements for a grand time on Friday. The speaker announced was on hand, and everything was in readiness to carry out the full programme as had been advertised. But a higher power interfered and they submissively bowed to the inevitable.

In order that our friends abroad may have some idea of what was done we give below a brief and hurried synopsis of the articles exhibited as well as the names of the exhibitors.

THE OHIO ELECTION.

And so Wm. ALLEN is elected Governor of the great Republican State of Ohio! And how did it occur? Simply because of the quarrels and jealousies of leading Republicans of the State. Gov. NOYES, the Republican candidate for reelection, wanted to be United States Senator. COLUMBU DELANO, present Secretary of the Interior at Washington, also wanted it: other prominant men of State notoriety felt competent to fill the position, and the result was that 30,000 Republicans staid at home in order to let a few of these aspirants know that they were not as strong as they imagined themselves to be. Nobody of either political party thought for a moment that ALLEN could be elected. He belonged to the obnoxious, bitter Bourbon Democracy, and yet by a few hundred majority he is the Governor of the "Buckeye" State. Ohio is not Democratic and will not be in the future. Republicans have been taught a wholesome lesson and they will heed it.

This being the "off" year" in politics the Republicans have shown apathy, staid at home, and given the Democrats an easy time of it in quite a number of places. Of course it is a time of Democratic rejoicing, but we would suggest that, between drinks, they would look over the figures. It would reveal to them the fact that there has been no increase in the Democratic vote; the result was caused by a heavy falling off of the Republicans. In Ohio over 30,000 Republicans did not go to the polls. And the same was true in all the States. Let the Democrats jubilate while they can. Next year they will be beaten as heretofore.

The attempt to restore the Monarchy in France, thanks to the blind obstinacy of the Count de Chambord, has met with a disastrous failure for the present. The monarchists, however, are determined not to submit to the confirmation of the Republic, but at the very least to infuse, as far as possible, the monarchical spirit into the rule of President MacMahon. There is still great danger that, in this indirect way, they will succeed first in completely undermining the Republic and eventually in rehabilitating the Monarchy in the person of some one of the numerous rival claimants to the throne.

STOKES goes to Sing Sing for four years, which was the heaviest sentence that could be pronounced under the circumstances as the jury could only agree upon a verdict of manslaughter in the third degree. That is to say, they declare it to be their opinion, after having carefully considered the evidence on both sides, that STOKES' crime, was, in the words of the statute, "killing another in the heat of passion without the design to effect death."

ANDY JOHNSON'S friends at Washington they say he still has a few left—are exceedingly digested with his recent speech in that city. They urge him to return to his native village. We hope he will do nothing of the kind. This is the season for Democratic rejoicing. Let all the old "war horses" be heard. The public wants to know just what Democracy means, and just what effect "Liberal Republicanism" has had upon it.

The November elections have nearly all resulted in such a falling off in the Republican numbers as to inspire courage and hope to the Democrats. The State ticket in New York has been carried by them, but the Legislature is Republican. The Conservatives have also carried Virginia and Maryland, but Massachusetts, Minnisota, Missippi, and New Jersey have been carried by the Republicans.

Lieutenant-Col GEORGE CROOK, the famous Indian fighter, has been promoted to fill the vacancy which has for some months existed in the grade of brigadier general. The promotion is eminently well deserved, for CROOK has done more than any other one man to keep the Arizona Apaches in order.

How true the saying of GEORGE ELIOT that Nemeis is lame, but she is of colossal stature, like the gods; and sometimes while her sword is yet unsheathed, she stretches out her huge left arm and grasps her victim. The mighty hand is invisible, but the victim totters under the dire clutch.

The Decatur, Illinois, Republican says that some young men of that town are ruining their reputation by getting drunk and howling around the streets on Sunday.—Ex

Such young men most likely have no reputation to ruin.

Congressman PLATT of Virginia charges that the Democrats carried the election in that State by intimidation and fraud. Thousands of colored men did not go to the polls.

Wanted immediately—one thousand men, women and children to come and examine the goods and prices at Fowler's one price store.

Gen BANKS has been elected to the Massachusetts Senate.—Ex.

This is a sort of resumption that shows that Massachusetts has confidence in her Banks.

On the night of the 9th the Court House and Jail at Weldon was burned, having been set on fire by a prisoner who perished in the ruins.

Prof. KERR, our State Geologist, has returned from Vienna.

OVER-EXERTION, either of body or mind, produces debility and disease. The usual remedy is to take some stimulant, the effect of which is the same as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true way is to fortify the system with a permanent tonic like the Peruvian Syrup, (a protoxide of Iron,) which gives strength and vigor to the whole system

CORRESPONDENCE

Eastern North Carolina Enterprise.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

The completion of the Jamesville and Washington Railroad to Washington, N. C., is of great interest to this section of Eastern North Carolina at this time. The difficulties to coastwise navigation is becoming greater and more perilous every year, and, Mr. Editor, in this age of rapid and quick intercommunication of country with country and city with city, it behoves every live American to lend his voice, energies and money to whatever promises to develope the resources and enrich the country, especially where he lives.

Now here is a chance for every man that wishes to do something for the present, and incoming generations, to lend a helping hand.

The Commissioners of Beaufort County have ordered an election to be held when and where the qualified voters of said county may say at and through the ballotbox that the county shall subscribe Sixty Thousand Dollars payable in 30 years to the company stock of the J. & W. R. R. in order to enable it to finish the road to Washington. It is now completed eleven miles and there only remains nine or ten miles to build. The election is to take place on the first Thursday in December. If the subscription is made the Company promises and agrees to add to the subscription the handsome sum of One Hundred Thousand more. The Company also agree to procure a line of steamers to ply on the waters of Pamlico Sound and its tributaries as a feeder of said road. And this is not all they propose to do. They will also have another line of steamers to run between Jamesvill and Baltimore via Norfolk. And Mr. Editor, the J. & W. R. R. & L. Co. is a Corperation fully able to fulfill all their promises and carry out all their plans. They are able to build the road within themselves, but they wish the people to interest themselves, especially those immediately concerned. And how with the Williamston and Tarborro Railroad completed, which is now in contemplation, would not Eastern N. C. Clap her hands and shout for joy at the dawn of a brighter and better day? Old Rip Van Winkle must wake up and shake off the accumulated dust of ages of apatha and inaction! The Williamston & Tarboro road was sold not long since you recollect, and bid off by ellman Babbs, and this Company wants the people to finish the grading and put the cross ties down, which will cost the counties of Martin and Edgecomb 25 or 30 Thousand Dollars, (these two named counties are more immediately interested than others) and they will do the rest.

So now you see, Mr. Editor, here is a splendid chance for this section of Eastern North Carolina to come out the bogs and swamps. One man in Jamesville says he will subscribe $2.000 towards the completion of the Williamston Railroad, and he has the back bone to do what he says. These enterprises do not belong to any Political Party. The interest of all classes will be subserved thereby.

Let us have the Railroad by all means!

The Fair.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

It has been my privilege to attend a good many Agricultural Fairs in times past, and I had the pleasure of being on your splendid grounds near this city on Wednesday last, and I must say that I was astonished at the profuse and varied display, especially in that Department which mainly received its contribution from the ladies. It demonstrates again the fact that when ladies enter heartily into any affair, success is sure to follow. The rain on Friday was most unfortunate for everything showed that if the last day had been pleasant there would have been a big time. I hope that another year you may have pleasant days for your meeting, and if the farmers and mechanics will prepare for it as exhibitors, you will distinguish yourselves, will advertise the county, gradually improve farms, farming implements & stock, thereby bettering the financial condition of the people, beside providing a few days of pleasant and profitable recreation for all. Success to the Albemarle Agricultual Society and the fair ladies of Elizabeth City.

The Trot and Tournament.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

As you are aware our Fair last week though a flattering exhibition, was not a financial success owing to the rain on Friday. We wish therefore to say to the people that to bring up arrearages and pay our debts we propose to have a grand Horse Fair and Tournament.

The last is a peculiary Southern institution and we believe the fair and the gallant of this district will turn out and patronize it as Englishmen patronize "Derby Day." We shall have celebrated horses here from all parts of the country, and people will have the privilege of seeing the noble trotters in the fierce and exciting contest for superiority.

We say to the people that it being under the auspices of the Agricultural Society is a sufficient guarantee of its respectability. The grand ball at the "Albemarle House" on Thursday will bring out our young people, and we sincerely hope that the grand entertainment may be well patronized.

The Most Popular Medicine Extant.

1840. Over 40 Years. 1873.

Since the Introduction of PERRY DAVIS'

PAIN-KILLER.

And after thirty years' trial, the "PAIN KILLER" may justly be styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no religion of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely and highly prized. Moreover, ther is no climate to which it has not proved to be well adapted for the cure of considerable variety of diseases; it is admirably suited for every race It has lost none of its good name by repeated trials, but continues to occupy a prominent position in every medicine chest; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues, from persons of the highest character and responsibility. Physicians of the first respectibility recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dysentery, Liver Complaints, and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained such unbounded popularity. As an external and internal medicine, the Pain-Killer stands unrivaled.

Thirty Years are certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the PAIN-KILLER is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparelled popularity it has attained. It is a Sure and Effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized. Be sure you buy none but the genuine, manufactured by PERRY DAVIS & SON, Providence, R. I.

For Sold by all Druggists. Nov. 5-1m.

THE SUN.

WEEKLY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND DAILY.

THE WEEKLY SUN is too widely known to require any extended recomendation; but the reasons which have already given it fifty thousand subscribers, and which will, we hope, give it many thousand more, are briefly as follows:

It is a first-rate newspaper. All the news of the day will be found in it, condensed when unimportant, at full length when of moment, and always presented in a clear, intelligible, and interesting manner.

It is a first-rate famil paper, full of entertaining and instructive reading of every kind, but containing nothing that can offend the most delicate and scrupulous taste.

It is story paper. The best tails and romances of current litereture are carefuly selected and legibly printed in its pages.

It is a first agricultural paper. The most fresh and instructive articles on agricultural topics regularly appear in this department.

It is an independent political paper, belonging to no partie and waring no collar. It fights for principle, and for the election of the best men to office. It especially devotes its energies to the exposure of the great corruptions that now weaken and disgrace our country, and threaten to undermine republican institutions all together. It has no fear of knaves, and asks no favors from their supporters.

It reports the fashions for the ladies and the markets for the men, especially the cattle-markets, to which it pays particular attention.

Finally, it is the cheapest paper published. One dollar a year will secure it for and subscriber. It is not necessary to get up a club in order to have the weekly sun at this rate. Any one who sends a single dollar will get the paper for one year.

We have no travelling agents.

THE WEEKLY SUN.—Eight pages, fifty-six columns. Only $1.00 a year. No discount from this rate.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.—Same size as the Daily Sun. $2.00 a year. A discount of 20 per cent. to clubs of 10 or over.

THE DAILY SUN.—A large four-page newspaper of 28 columns. Daily circulation over 120,000. All the news for 2 cents. Subscription price 50 cents a month, or 6.00 a year. To clubs of 10 or, over, a discount of 20 per cent.

NORTH CAROLINIAN

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 12, 1873.

TO NORTHERN VISITORS.

Elizabeth City is 50 miles South East of Norfolk, Va. Parties coming here from the north should take passage on the Bay line steamers which leave Baltimore at 4 P. M. every evening, and arrive at Portsmouth the next morning in time to connect with the Elizabeth City Steamers daily.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisement in this issue.
Bankrupt Notices.
The Saturday Evening Post.
The Sun.
The American Sewing Machine.
Brodrick & Smith.
Grand Horse Fair.

Local and Personal.

☞ GEO. W. SMITH, one of the oldest merchants of Edenton, died on Friday last.

☞ The latest New York quotations are: Gold 107½; Cotton 13½. At Norfolk cotton is quoted at 12½; Corn 72c.

☞ The Post Office is now cozily fixed in its new quarters. Its location is much more convenient for us as well as for most of the business public.

☞ The Engineers of the Atlantic Railway Company will reach here in a few days and will at once begin the work of locating the road, procuring right of way, etc.

☞ Our Washington N. C. correspondent informs us that on the morning of October 30th, the dwelling, kitchen and most of the household and kitchen furniture of J. F. RANDOLPH, of that place was totally destroyed by fire. It was purely accidental. Loss about $4000. Insurance $1000.

☞ The Band, in view of the peculiar difficulties they labored under, have put the Managers of the Fair under special obligations for the aid they rendered in filling up their department. They discoursed most excellent music and gave more than general satisfaction.

☞ We call attention to the advertisement, in this issue, of the American Sewing Machine. We saw one at the Fair. To it was an attachment working a palm leaf fan producing a current of air. It struck us as calculated, during warm weather, to add very much to the comfort of the operator.

☞ We call especial attention to a communication in this issue of the NORTH CAROLINIAN upon the Jamesville and Williamston Railroad. The matter is one deeply affecting the interests of the people of Beaufort, Martin and adjoining counties. We shall have a word futher on the subject in our next issue.

☞ We saw just as handsome, refined, inteligent and neatly dressed ladies in the crowd at the Fair as ever walked the Broadway of the great metropolis of our country. We say this because the ladies of any community are the true index of its moral and social culture. Society is just what they make it. They are the salt of the earth. Salt, did you say? Sugar rather. Well, sugar, then.

☞ The grandest exhibition of Stock and trial of speed ever witnessed in Eastern Carolina will take place on the Fair Grounds near this city on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There will also be a grand Tournament, and an exhibition of Lady Equestrianism, all to wind up with a Ball on Thursday evening. For particulars see advertisement. Should the weather prove bad the Exhibition will come off on the first fair days.

☞ We must now request of all our subscribers who have not paid their bills to the NORTH CAROLINIAN, to do so promptly. Each one may think that the amount is so small that it cannot be of any consequence whether it is paid now or six months hence. But if a thousand or more persons think and act after that fashion, the results are likely to be unpleasant. If every one who is in arrers will send on his money now, it will do him and us more good than to wait 'til times are easy and cash is plenty.

☞ On the 4th inst., at the annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Dismal Swamp Canal Company Col. W. B. ROGERS was re-elected President. That he has managed the affairs of the company satisfactorily is evidenced by the fact that the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the stockholdersbe tendered to Col. William B. Rogers, president, for the able and efficient manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the company during his administration.

☞ The proposition to subscribe Twenty Thousand Dollars to the capital stock of the Atlantic Coast Railway Company will be submitted to a vote in Camden county on the first Thursday in December. This is a question in which the people of that county are certainly interested. The building of the Road will benefit every interest—agricultural, manufacturing and laboring, more than any enterprize that can be named. It will give an impetus to development and material progress the dormant energies and the backward condition of the country needs. Let the people—every voter—cast his ballot for the subscription.

☞ We are asked to give our opinion as to the policy of selling cotton at the present prices. We make no pretentions to prophesy, but if we had cotton to sell, and could possibly hold on to it, we would not dispose of it now. The cotton crop is not a full one. The depression is not caused by an over supply. The fall in price has been caused by the stringency in the money market, the closing of the manufacturing establishments, etc. When Congress meets a movement will be made to give relief. When that is done the manufactories will resume and the demand for our Southern staple will at once increase. Then the price will go up to a better paying figure. This is simply our opinion.

☞ Gen. RANSOM, faithful to his promise, was on hand ready to deliver the Address at the Fair on Friday as announced. It was a great disappointment to us and all our people that because of the inclement weather we were unable to hear him. He is booked for next year.

☞ Gov. Caldwell has issued a respite to ANACA GARETT, who was to have been hanged at Plymouth last week. The execution is stayed until Friday, November 28th, and the case will be futher investigated. The respith was issued on Saturday, and, as the papers could not possibly reach Plymouth in time, the fact of their issuance was telegraphed to Franklin, Va., with instruction to have the telegram immediately forwarded to the county seat of Washington. ANACA is 60 years of age and is charged with the murder of a little girl. Her pardon is urged by the District Solicitor and a number of the best citizens of the county.

☞ The appeals we made to the ladies to enter articles to fill up the Household, Fancy and Floral Departments of the Fair have been nobly responded to, and by Northern and Southern alike. They made these departments peculiarly attractive, excelling most of the neighboring Fairs. On behalf of the Managers of the Society we tender them our grateful acknowledgements. We knew that without their co-operation and help we could not succeed—that with it the enterprize could be made a success. It is to them we feel largely indebted for what has been accomplished. We also return our thanks to those of our merchants who took sufficient interest to place articles on exhibition to fill up and add to the variety of the departments. The spirit they manifested is appreciated.

☞ A correspondent of the Norfolk Landmark who visited our Fair gives our ladies the following very neat notice:

Last but not least, the Fair was made intensely interesting by the presence and the handiwork of the fair. The ladies had a great many nice things (besides themselves), which were much admired by all present. Some of them modestly claimed that their department surpassed that of the "lords of creation" Is it not usually the case that they excel the men in neatness, patient industry, and in earnest enthusiasm in behalf of a good cause?

He closed with the following compliment to the officers, which is duly appreciated:

Much praise is due the officers and members of the Albemarle Agricultural Society for their diligence in arrangements, and for their prompt attention and politeness to all attendants. May they do much in the future to encourage home industry, and develop the resources of the "Old North State."

☞ In October 1869 while on a visit to our old home in Bloomsburg, Pa., we wrote an editorial letter for the NORTH CAROLINIAN from which we make the following extract:

"During the past week the annual exhibition of the Agricultural, Horticultural and Mechanical Association of this county was held at this place. As usual it was a great success. * * * Having been one of the Charter members, and in the early and struggling days its President for two successive years, it was a gratification to attend its 14th annual Fair and a satisfaction to see it in such a prosperous condition. We expect to see the time when a Fair equaling this will be held in Elizabeth City."

This was written only four years ago and there were those who laughed at us for making the prediction. It did seem utopian then, but on ergy and determination and hearty co-operation can accomplish marvelous things. Those who visited our Fair on Thursday will concede that our statement was not so visionary after all. Next year we can and we believe we WILL HAVE the best Fair ever held in all of Eastern Carolina.

☞ The finest display of Horses and Cattle ever brought to Eastern Carolina was exhibited at our Fair by Maj. F. D. BUNNELL, who is known in this State as the "great stock grower of Northern Peansylvania." The same stock was exhibited at the Weldon Fair and at the State Fair at Raleigh. They took the highest premiums. A brief description of the stock will be found in our "Notes of the Fair" on another page. Maj. BUNNELL has manifested a deep interest in our Society and has contributed greatly in making it a success. The Managers feel deeply indebted to him for his efforts and cooperation. On landing at Portsmouth, on his way to the State Fair at Raleigh, he met with the misfortune of having a very fine imported Devon cow so injured that she died. He had the hide carefully removed and preserved, and at our Fair he had it stuffed and did so it skillfully that at a short distance off one would mistake it for a living cow.

LOCAL POET-FOLIO

A man of parts—an actor. The wise course—to advertise. On a strike—prize fighters and clocks. The largest ground rent on record—the earthquake. An interesting question to be decided next Wednesday—who will be the successful Knight to enjoy the privilege of crowning the Queen of Love and Beauty.

LOCAL BRIEFS:—Marshal HARNEY, and his efficient aids DASHIELL and NASH performed their duties most admirably at the Fair.—J. W. TURNER has sold his Drug Store to the ETHERIDGE BROS. They have closed their old place and now occupy the one at the corner of Main and Road streets.—The rain on Friday caused more disappointment than any "wet day" of the season.—Mrs. J. M. MATHEWS died on Saturday. She was an amiable lady and had long been an invalid.—The work on Road street has very much improved it.—Our City was full of visitors last week.—It wss a matter of surprize that there was not a larger display of wheat, oats, corn and vegetables at the Fair. Our farmers must do better next time.—The "Kentucky Fat Woman" was in town on exhibition last week.—We saw our friend A. E. JACOBS, of Norfolk, in the city last week.—Prepare for the Tournament next week.—Glad to see our townsman F. M. COOK able to be on the streets again. Ah, FRANK, you had a narrow escape.—We understand that there will be several lady equestrians and drivers on the Fair Grounds next Wednesday.

LIVER ADVERTISEMENTS.—A medicine that has done more than all the prescriptions of the pharmacopeia to protect the human system against the bodily ills superimposed by unhealthy surroundings, is certainly worthy of universal confidence. It is mainly on account of its extraordinary preventive properties that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is so exceedingly popular in localities subject to the visitation of miasmatic fevers and other diseases produced by empoisoned air. A family that has escaped sickness during a sickly season in consequence of using the Bitters as a safeguard, is a living advertisement of the virtues of the preparation. The whole neighborhood realize the fact. "I couldn't have believed it," says one. "I scarcely credited the advertisements, but can now believe what one sees," says another. It is the very thing we need in this unwholesome section of country," remarks a third. And the result is that the instinct of self-defence, the first law of nature, induces three-fourths of that community to obtain a supply of the great vegetable antidote before the next sickly season sets in. In winter, when the system requires extra vigor and elasticity to enable it to baffle the effects of damp and cold, the Bitters will be found particularly serviceable. Rheumatism will not be apt to fasten upon muscles and nerves that have been braced up by this excellent invigorant and nervine; nor will the severities of the season, which have such a disastrous effect on the pulmonary organs of the feeble and delicate, be likely to exercise the same untoward influences in cases where the stomach and the external surface of the body (which always sympathizes with the digestive organs) have been toned and stimulated by a course of the restorative. The ills of indigestion and irregularities of the bowels which proceed from sudden changes of weather may always be averted by a timely use of the Bitters.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

BY HIS EXCELENCY, THE GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA.

Executive Department, } Raleigh, Oct. 22, 1873. }

WHEREAS, The people of North Carolina have been abundantly blessed during the past year, and the earth hath yielded bounteously of all the products of its soil, so that the garners of the husbandman are filled to overflowing; and the industrious mechanic has realized a rich reward from his labor, and every class of our population has prospered in all laudable enterprises; and WHEREAS, above all, fraternal feelings and good will have in a great measure been restored in our midst, and no plague, pestilence or famine, has visited our State. Now therefore, as it becomes us, a grateful people, to render thanks to Almighty God for these and numberless other blessings showed upon us in His great mercy; I, Tod R. Caldwell, Governor of North Carolina, in obedience to law and in conformity with an honored precedent, do appoint and set apart as a day of public Thanggiving throughout the State; and I do earnestly invite the clergy of every denomination to open their respective houses of worship on said day and to exhort their congregations to humble themselves before the throne of the ever-living God, and render unto Him praises which are justly due, invoking for themselves, their State and their whole country, His guidance and protection throughout all time to come.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1873.

"O come, let us sing unto the Lord, let us make a joyful noise to the Rock of our salvation."

"Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms."

Water.

ater is the great mechanical power ature. It is the great leveller; it r mountains and fills valleys. All crystallized rocks, saudstones, slates, limestones were formed by the action water. To the solvent power of r and its chemical action we owe our l minerals, our metallic deposits, iron, copper, zinc, gold, and silver and even coal. To its physical erties—its relations to heat—we owe e phenomena of clouds, dew, rain, now, and frost. It supports the s, brings them their mineral food the soil, and protects them from ex- e heat. Animals are equally de- dant upon it. Yet after all, it is only gent of the sun; it is sun power that e plants grow. it is the sun power moves evrything in the world, and is merely the sun's agent. The loss ater would produce the same condi- n of things on earth that we notice in the moon. Although we have a vast quantity of water, yet it is 1,240,000th part of the earth or 2 per cent. The crystalline rocks e earth's surface now contain a lar- quantity of water than this, and the ent our earth cools enough to absorb thousandth of one per cent of more the ocean will disappear. If we d loose our atmosphere also; the ings or pores in the rocks will re- it by gravitation—Boston Journal Chemistry.

Bridle Bits.

ly a day passes without the occur- nce of an accident arising from a bit king while in the horse's mouth. e are three ways of making these ; one is to forge them throughout of toughest iron or of soft steel; the other is to use cast cheeks and forge the mouth- s while the third is to cast them roughout. The first is the only method that should be followed, but buyers will, pay the price asked, and manufac- rers cannot afford to sell them for less. e wrought mouth is the next best, and e check has been properly annealed makes a servisable bit; cast checks, wever, are not always reliable, and the manufacturer is as liable to be mistaken this respect as the buyer. The cast n is one that ought never to be used; harness makers should inform their cus- tomers of the quality of the article, and leave the responsibility with the buyer. If for the difference in price between the two kinds, a man chooses to risk his life by using the poorer bit, neither the har- ness maker nor bit manufacturer should be blamed. The bit and rains should always be of the strongest kind, no mat- ter what the merits of the rest of the harness.—Harness and Carriage Journal.

Singing to Cows.

Cows are sociable, and understand more than we suppose. The way I came into possession of this choice bit of knowledge, Tim and I used to sing to the cows. They knew very quick when I changed from one tune to another. I have tried them repeatedly. When I sing sober church hyms, they'd lop their ears down look serious and chew the cud very slowly, reminding me—in reverence meditated—of nice old ladies in church, listening to the words of the preacher, yet all the time munching doves. Then we'd change to some lively air, "Yankee Doodle" or the like, and they would shake their heads, open their eyes, blink at us much as to say, "Now, don't you know we are the dear little cows?" But when we would stop singing, every cow would turn her head, as if asking us to go on with our singing. It was pleasant, we generally sang to them through the entire milking. I know the dear animals that add so much to our comfort. Boys, will you not be kind to cows?—Canada Farmer.

Success in North Carolina.

At the close of the war I found myself completely broken down. I wound up my little business—or rather the soldiers did for me—leaving, all told, that I could call my own, about $300 in money and property. I bought a run down farm and its stock, for which I paid and promised to pay $633. I went to work rather inexperienced, as I had not done any work upon a farm for 17 years, built a barn 48 by 20 feet, a crib at one end, with fool shed between. Planted 100 apple trees and 353 peach trees. I have lived and kept my family, consisting of a wife and five children, three of whom have been in school six months of the year for five years past. Paid all my debts except $3.50 doctor's bills, etc., and have had the advantage of one religious and two agricultural papers. Notwithstanding the fall of farms in the South-land is 50 per cent., my farm would bring $1,600. All the experience I now have, per- mits this result might be doubled. Show me the merchant or clerk, mechanic, printer or laborer in any other trade or profession that with the same drawbacks, has done better, and I will show you a man who have done worse.—Journal of Farm

Dio Lewis, amused a Utica audience lately by some advice to married men. He was talking about the eye: "Gaze into your wife's eye closely and you will see yourself looking exceedingly small." The illustration took.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

If men will enjoy good health, let them use VINEGAR BITTERS as a medicine, and avoid the use of alcoholic stimulants and poisonous liquors.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility and durability of soil, no section can excel it.

A railroad will soon be built to Norfolk, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

A farm of 700 acres in Pasquotank County 10 miles from town, with fine two story dwelling, large barn, kitchen and other outhouses; as also, two other dwellings, barns and other houses at different points on the farm. This farm is all cleared but 150 acres, is free from swamps and other waste land, and is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, &c. The price is 14,000 in easy payments.

A farm of 500 acres in Pasquotank County, 6 miles from town, and one mile from the River, with good new dwelling built in modern style, barn, stables, four tenant houses scattered over the farm, fine water, &c. This farm is situated on the most public road in the County, has 300 acres cleared and balance in splendid pine, oak, cypress, maple, sweet gum, and other valuable timber. It is peculiarly adapted to raising cotton, $50 per acre, net, having been realized on a part of it this year in cotton. It also grows corn, wheat, oats, and other crops well. Price $12,000 in easy payments.

A valuable vacant lot in the town of E. City containing a half square, on the principal street in the town immediately opposite Court House quare. Has an iron fence in front, fine shrubbery, and is near the large new Hotel justerected. Price $2,000 in easy payments.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Three farms—one of 160 acres, one of 80 acres and one of 190 acres, within two miles of town, mostly cleared land. Price $20 per acre for each tract—payments on easy terms. Also many other valuable farms and town lots too numerous to mention.

BANKRUPTCY.

THE FIFTY PER CENT. CLAUSE.

As there seems to be a misunderstanding in regard to the effect of the provision of the Bankrupt Act, commonly called the 50 per cent. clause, we publish the following extracts from the Act:
The second clause of the thirty-third section as amended by the Act of July 27, 1868, provides "that no discharge shall be granted to any debtor whose assets shall not be equal to fifty per cent. of the claims proved against his estate, by which he shall be liable, as the principal debtor, unless the assent of writing of a majority in number and value of his creditors to whom shall have become liable as principal debtors and who shall have proved their claims, filed in case at or before the time of hearing upon the application for discharge.
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled—that the provisions of the second clause of the thirty-third section of said act as amended by the first section of said act in amendment thereof, approved June 22, 1868, shall not apply to those debts from which the bankrupt seeks a discharge which were contracted prior to January 1st, 1869.
The true meaning is not that a bankrupt must be able to pay fifty per cent of his debts, before he can obtain a discharge, as many believe; but that his estate, in the hands of his assignee, at the time of the discharge, must be equal, to fifty per cent. of the amount of the debts.
1. That he owes as principal;
2. That have been proved against him in bankruptcy; and
3. That he has contracted since the 1st day of December, 1868.
Or, if a majority in number and value of those who have proved their debts, object to the bankrupt is indebted as principal, or has contracted subsequent to Dec., 31, 1868, and present in writing to the discharge—such bankrupt may be discharged forever from all his debts.
If a debtor, owing three thousand dollars principal, twenty-five hundred of which debtedness was contracted prior to Jan. 1, 1869, and five hundred subsequent to that date, files his petition in bankruptcy, and his creditors prove against him, and the whole assets in the hands of the assignee, the former will be entitled to a discharge; but he will be a bar only to the debts contracted prior to January 1, 1869.—If no creditors prove, the discharge will be good against all debts, whether contracted before or after January 1, 1869.
The practical effect in bankruptcy cases generally is, that creditors fail to prove their debts, finding it ordinarily unprofitable. This fact, it is said, in a large majority of instances, has saved the trouble and expense of making claims, without receiving any return. The 50 per cent. bugbear, therefore when viewed in the light of the law and common-sense,

In laying off the Exemptions in the several Districts, the Assignees are ordered to govern and abide by, any assignment of a homestead which has been made by a Sheriff under the State laws; or which has been approved by the Court of North Carolina. Where no such assignment of the homestead has been made, the assignee will proceed to set apart such homestead, and make the other exemptions according to the rules of the bankrupt Court.
The report of such exemptions when made by the assignee can be excepted to by the bankrupt or by any creditor, within twenty days after the allotment of such exempt property.

EFFECT OF THE DISCHARGE IN BANKRUPTCY UPON JUDGMENT

It is the opinion of many of our best lawyers that the discharge in bankruptcy, discharges judgment debts existing against the bankrupt at the time of filing his petition, and therefore the liens existing by virtue of such judgments, upon homesteads are wiped out and cannot afterward be enforced. It is said that the practical effect of the discharge is to leave a man, whose homestead was encumbered by judgments, free from all his debts, of every nature, and the owner in fee simple of such homestead.
Again many lawyers, equally prominent in the profession, are of opinion that such result will not be the effect of the discharge. The homestead, will still be liable under the judgments and that when it determines under the State laws, the judgment creditor may enforce his lien and collect his debts.
To place this matter beyound doubt, the following rule has been adopted for the benefit of petitioners who are not willing to run any risk.
That the petitioning debtor may file his petition in the District Court, addressed to Hon. Geo. W. Brooks, asking that the judgment creditor, or creditors, show cause why the liens existing in pursuance of their judgments should not be adjusted by said court, and their proper value ascertain and fixed, and the amount thus so ascertained, to be made the true value of such lien or liens by the decree or judgment of said District Court, in bankruptcy.
The right to adjust such liens, is exercised in pursuance of Sec. 1. of the Bankrupt Act.
